

Whistleblowing

Whistleblowing is generally taken to mean the disclosure by a worker of wrongdoing within an organisation. You should only use this procedure if you discover serious malpractice within the Foundation.

Any concerns about malpractice should always be raised internally in the first instance, to the Headteacher: rwarburton@leftwichhigh.com If the concern is in relation to the Headteacher, contact Chair of Governors: jflower@leftwichhigh.com

Key Points

- All concerns are confidential and taken seriously.
- You are protected from detrimental treatment for raising genuine concerns in good faith.
